September 17 was an overcast day when I arrived at Nashville airport. The 2013 Annual Conference of the Emergency Nurses Association was to start the next day. I had met two RNs from Texas on the plane, so we shared a cab to the Opryland Hotel. This is a huge hotel built with six story towers surrounding gardens, paths, shops and restaurants in the middle, all covered by huge glass domes that kept the temperature constant and pleasant. I was a delegate, so I attended a strategy session the evening I arrived. We got our warm blue fleece coats so all 58 of us could stand out as the largest delegation on the Assembly floor. Usually we discuss the Resolutions we will vote on the next day, but this year, there was only one, dealing with continuing education—not very controversial. There were about 13 By-laws amendments, which are usually just housekeeping, but this year they sparked controversy. Some felt we should do background checks on our officer candidates, even though no other organization does this. We voted to keep it. There were also issues around the sudden unexplained firing of the nurse editor of the Journal of Emergency Nursing. (She had been on the job for 6 years and was a former president of ENA.) There were criticisms of the way ENA communicates with members. The national president took it fairly well and managed to make the meeting her own by hiring her husband to give a major speech and using her grand-daughters as part of the opening ceremonies. There was a Town Hall meeting where members could meet the board and ask them questions, but it was held in the afternoon before most members arrived, so attendance was low.

Report from National ENA - Deena Brecher
ENA vision is to be indispensable to the global nursing community; ENA mission is to advocate for patient safety and excellence in ED nursing practice.
Membership is over 40,000.
Some in congress are talking about tying reimbursement to passage of violence laws. This should make them happen.
ENA found that only 2% of ENA emails are actually opened. So we are using more social media like Facebook and Twitter.
ENA Scope and Standards ebook is available on iBooks.
Listservs - important to be on one to know what is going on.
Financially ENA is doing well enough to invest in new products. We have 84 staff members.
eLearning is not being fully utilized. There are a lot of courses, changing quarterly.
ED staffing guidelines are available for $25.
IQSIP working on cell phone usage in the ED.
Nurse fatigue and dangers of 12 hr shifts still being studied.
NDNQI, creating ED specific data points for collection.
First combined conference will be in Orlando in the fall of 2015.
Over 1200 tickets sold for ENAF night at Grand Ole Opry during Annual Assembly in Nashville. To give feedback, check President's blog. Use whatever means you can, but give feedback, we listen.

CHA – Terri Sturgill
They have new protocols about psych holds in EDs.

Violence Study - Marcus
The tool was changed to ask “Did any of this happen to you and who did it?” It asks by listing what type of person did the violence and did you consider it to be violence. By the end of August or early September, an email will go out for you to check out the tool and say if you think it will work. We should get IRB approval, then we will approach CHA to approve and kick off the study in January.

ENA Intensive
Attendees included Terri Sturgill (Board), Cheryl Graydon (San Diego), Louella Buell and David Samuelson (East Bay), Kara Davis (Govt Affairs Com). There is an article in the July Monitor. They got a lot of support. To get Gov’t Affairs updates, join ENA’s Legislative Network (EN-411) at: ENA.org/Advocacy to input your name.

Annual ENA Assembly in Nashville, drawing for free tuition for members who voted was held and Judy Scott won!

Congratulations to newly elected board members
Congratulations to Matt Powers on his election to national President-elect for 2014!
New state officer’s bios are featured on the web site:
President-elect: Susan Smith
Secretary: Agnes Faria
Treasurer-elect: David Samuelson
Director-at-Large: Janet Williams

Delegates – Louise Hummel
We had a full slate of 57 delegates and one alternate. There was a big discussion about changing the logo to the older smaller, style, but it was voted down. Members must serve both days to get state reimbursement.
State/Chapter News

There will be a reception on Wednesday night for delegates (and CA members).
There were 13 Bylaw amendments, 7 from the Nominating Com. Some are just simple word changes. One is controversial, about eliminating background checks for officers. No other org does this. It will save $3/person/yr. if we don’t. Social media makes us pretty vulnerable these days. Election rules are the other issue, putting all info in one place. June and July Connection have a list of amendments and the resolution.

Bylaws -Marcus
Terri and Marcus will get the web updated with the newest Bylaws and Policies.

Scholarship – Linda Rosenberg
This year, our state contributions to the ENAF Scholarship allowed us to name an entry-level scholarship. We choose to name it after Antoinette Robinson, from Loma Prieta chapter, who died of breast cancer. We have 2 state scholarships to award:
- Entry level for $500 and 1 year membership
- Dan Kelleher for advanced degree for $500
You can find applications on the web, the deadline was Oct 1.

Chapter Leadership Awards – Linda Rosenberg
Check your elite email for application info. They are also due by Oct 1.

Chapter Reports
Chapter Rep meeting had some lively discussions. There was concern that some chapters do not have enough money because they are unable to sponsor successful educational events. Having a resource list of speakers on various topics would be very helpful. CVs could be put on a memory stick that Janet said she could have made for about $3 each. Or the info could be put on the web site.
The idea was floated of having richer chapters supporting more needy chapters by helping their members to get to State Council (pay hotel bill, pay for travel). National ENA has several CEN Review options. A group of RN CEN candidates could study a book or web series, then meet with an educator at their hospital to review their areas of weakness. Using this method, one hospital increased their CENs from 10% to 42%!
EDAP (emergency department approved for pediatrics) classes are the rage right now. Carole Snyder, whose chapter puts on a successful course annually, is willing to speak at your chapter. Julie Rossie is also willing to do talks on trauma.
If you can’t pay for speakers, a gift card to a popular store is a well-received compensation.

Channel Islands Meeting planned for September, October and November. Elections should be completed in August. We are in the process of planning ED Nurses’ Week by sponsoring an educational social event with a disaster presentation. Check out our ENA Channel Islands Chapter Facebook page and Like us! Cheryl regularly posts topics of interest. We are sponsoring a TNCC Instructor course the weekend of August 10-11. We are having a 4 hour Ultrasound-guided PIV course as a fund-raiser on October 12. We plan to charge $125 for 3 CEUs. We are sending 3 delegates to Nashville. Cheryl Cobb attended a Workplace Safety Collaborative at national ENA in Chicago.

Ed Pullido

East Bay continues to attract first-time attendees at our meetings. We have a meeting on Wednesday, August 28 at Kaiser-Walnut Creek. Dr. Suzy Fitzgerald will speak on Disaster Preparedness.

David Samuelson

Greater Los Angeles had their quarterly meeting on August 14 preceded by lectures on stroke, TPA and endovascular procedures. We are co-sponsoring an EDAP class on October 10-11 with PIH in Whittier (this is a 2 day LA County-approved pediatric class). Our chapter financials are healthy. Three members will be attending the Annual Meeting in Nashville.

Barbara Van Eck

Kern has a CEN Review ready to go on October 7-8 with multiple vendors (Avcor, Crofab, etc) invited. It will cost $175 and is already posted on the Cal ENA website.

Agnes Faria
Loma Prieta had a July 18th meeting that provided 1 hour free CE on the PROTECT study – progesterone as a neuro-protector for traumatic brain injury. We submitted a memorial for General Assembly for Antoinette “Toni” Robinson, a strong ED nurse and patient advocate who lost her courageous battle with cancer. Our August 15th meeting will feature a free 1 hour CE offering. We are planning our ED Nurses’ week celebration with a dinner and a CEN Jeopardy game on October 17.

Julie Rossie

Northern Los Angeles is having a design contest for their new chapter. The winner will receive a $100 gift card or a one year ENA membership. The design will be used for future chapter fundraiser items. Our participation has improved! Membership chair India Wright has organized education/activities for the meetings. But the Secretary has resigned. We are looking for someone to fill this role. There was a chapter meeting on Thursday, August 15.

Vicki Johnson

Orange Coast had a meeting on August 14 at McCormick & Schmidt’s restaurant in Anaheim. The October 10 meeting is planned for Maggiano’s Italian restaurant in Costa Mesa. Julie Wanstreet completed her appointment on the OC Emergency Management Care Committee. Sharon Gibson-Hoier was nominated to be our new representative.

Julie Wanstreet

Sacramento continues to utilize teleconferencing for chapter meetings and it is working well for us. We were happy to provide some financial support for yesterday’s educational event. We are exploring new ideas for our Emergency Nurses’ Day celebration. The board is considering a sponsored dinner to provide a social event as well as education. We are looking forward to planning the educational event in South Lake Tahoe next year. We are sending 9 delegates to General Assembly in Nashville.

Diane Schertz

San Diego had a meeting on August 20. We know of at least 20 nurses in San Diego going to Nashville, 9 of them as delegates. Louise Hummel will be getting the ENA Lifetime Achievement award in Nashville on Saturday night at the Gala. For Emergency Nurses week, we are having cookies delivered to all the EDs in San Diego County, both day and night shift. We are planning our Holiday Tea for this December – we collect toys and give them as a charitable donation. We are also planning our annual 911 Conference for April 2014. The exact date and location will be announced.

Mary Meadows

San Francisco had a successful, well-attended meeting at the upscale 1300 Fillmore restaurant on May 17 with a speaker on hypertensive medication. A raffle was held for a gift basket and $157 was raised for the chapter’s coffers. We were able to give $1000 to ENAF for the State Challenge. Interest continues in local ENA and we are planning an educational event and recognition of ED Nurses’ week in October. We are sending 3 delegates to General Assembly.

Mark Wandro

Superior has a TNCC sponsored by the chapter in Eureka on August 24-25. We are selling badge holders as a fundraiser for $5 and $10. We are working on co-sponsoring an educational event with the Sacramento chapter on Pediatric Simulation. The Butte County EMS Symposium will be at Enloe Medical Center in Chico on November 1.

Committee Reports

Communications (formerly Newsletter/Web)
The printed July Monitor was available on the back table. You can always download digital copies on the web site. I am looking for some meaty submissions for the next edition, due out in late October after the Scientific Assembly in Nashville. The deadline is October 10, 2013. Be sure to fill out the Chapter/Committee Report Templates on the tables with info on your chapter/committee. They are also available on the web on the Documents page if you prefer to submit them digitally.

Payment of $450 was received for an insertion from Mercy Air on page 11. Many of you use their services, or work for them, so it is a good idea to post the Monitor at your work or make copies for co-workers so the word gets spread around. I learned at the State Council that not all members are aware when a new Monitor is posted. The plan is to notify every member via email with a link to the new edition.

The web site has the results of the state elections. You can read about our new officers and see their pictures. The Education page lists ENPC, TNCC and CEN Review courses that members have told me about. I will be happy to post any events for your chapters.
I also set up and ran the state elections on Survey Monkey. Thank you to Marcus for letting me use the state account, it saved us $25.

I am still getting requests from outside to put links to their educational or special interest sites on our Links page. I am not posting them unless they are clearly connected to ENA. (The latest is Evelyn Rogers of accreditedonlinecolleges.org)

I’d be happy to talk with anyone interested in running the Monitor, the web site or both. I’ll be happy to mentor and get you started. You are welcome to implement your own ideas for the continuation of the newsletter and the web site.

Education
The Bites event had 30 people registered yesterday, August 8. The November cruise has 16 RNs registered for the educational event, but 30 total have signed up for the cruise. Remember you have to register separately for the cruise and education. By going through Bryan at Carnival, you get the same rate, but you get put on the list for meals together. The sooner you book, the cheaper. Look for specials and non-refundable fares for the best deals. See the flier.

Tobin Miller

EMS Emergency Medical Services
The state EMSA task force on Community Paramedics has released a document giving us guidelines for establishing this program in California. There was a lot of players involved in this project and there are still topics that need exploring. In the next three years, counties/EMSAs may do pilot programs. Carol is working on the LA county project. I thought it very interesting that Carol explained they are working the finances so someday insurance (public and private) will reimburse transporting patients to places other than EDs. This is a work in progress.

EMS Core Measures will be posted on the web site. SB 669 requires non-governmental pre-hospital workers to wear a patch proclaiming “non-governmental employee” on their uniforms. This only applies to contract workers for counties.

Carolyn Scott

ENA FUNDraising
The State Challenge raised 104% of the goals set by the Foundation. This equates to more than $121,000. The Foundation now has its own web site, which is www.ENAFoundation.org. You can still reach ENAF information through the ENA web site.

Annual Conference Activities
• Jewelry Auction – donations from chapters and individuals were open for bids;
• ENAF Friday night at the Grand Ole Opry was sold out;
• Walk for Wellness on Friday morning – register for $10 and raise money from your sponsors;
• Sales of thumb drives and pins;
• Judith C. Kelleher Memorial Endowment raised just under $150,000 (with the match of $25,000 from ENA). The first memorial scholarship will be awarded this year for an RN enrolled in a Masters/NP program.
• The give-away at the Ventura State Council meeting raised $323 for the Foundation.

Diane Schertz

Government Affairs
Discussed what David and Kara learned at Day on the Hill in DC. Made good contacts, let legislators know that we are available. Talked about funding for nurse programs, even though there are too many RNs now, many more will be needed as baby boomers age. Rural areas have a shortage, encourage retirees to go there and work. It was also Fallen Police Officer Awareness Day on the Hill. Many police dept units were represented, including canine units.

Bills: several reviewed, here are some highlights:
SB 669: Epi Pens. Need to include language that would protect their use on general public. Should public be allowed to carry one in public? - could be used as a weapon. Judy teaches a First Aid class that includes Epi pens along with CPR, AEDs. This is an education issue, it needs quality control and followup. Should be in affiliation with First Responders. How about RNs? but not the general public. There was a hearing Aug 13.
AB 918: impossible to register and track all seniors and nursing home residents. Keep this at a local level, do not centralize - too expensive.

AB 588: School athletics: concussions. On October 1 the bill was chaptered by Secretary of State.

AB 1371: Gov. Jerry Brown signed legislation requiring motorists to give bicyclists at least three feet of space when passing on a California roadway, after vetoing similar legislation during the last two years.

Leadership in Practice
- Reviewed and updated the draft of the IRB for the Violence study;
- Reviewed recent changes to the Violence Survey that were suggested prior to state meetings;
- Reviewed Resolution and Bylaws amendments for General Assembly;
- Reviewed the national ENA call for committee members;
- Had an open discussion regarding the use of phones in the ED that create patient care distractions.

Julie Rossie

SQIP (Safety, Quality, Injury Prevention)
Marcus Godfrey gave an update on the status of the Violence Study:
the survey tool has been revised based on a discussion from last meeting;
the tool will now also look at what nurses perceive as violence to give us an idea of the amount of violence occurring;
the IRB is being finalized by Julie Rossie;
the committee sponsored Cheryl Cobb to attend the Violence Workshop held at national ENA. She reported on the workshop and will provide us with the course materials which Patrice will post on the website.

Patrice Christensen

Trauma
The committee thanks Community Memorial Hospital of Ventura for allowing us to use their facility on the day after the state meeting for a TNCC-Instructor class. The 7th TNCC edition is slated to rollout in the first quarter of 2014.

Membership
When new members join ENA they are not always assigned to a Chapter. If for any reason you would want to be part of another Chapter, you must do so through National ENA at www.ena.org
Keep your email, mailing address and phone numbers current with the National ENA office. If you have any questions please don’t hesitate to contact me at: tsturgill6@yahoo.com. I will do my best to help with any questions or information needed.

Terri Sturgill

Pediatrics
There was a great turnout of local members at our Ventura committee meeting. We reviewed 16 Peds Committee-sponsored Instructor courses and worked on getting the new candidates monitored. The Peds Outreach Grant application is on the state web site. The goals and process for applying for ENPC grant funds was reviewed. The committee will write-up the process to become an ENPC instructor and how to be monitored. The SOP for Peds has been completed and submitted to the board for approval. Patrice Christensen and Jan Fredrickson will represent Cal ENA Peds Committee at the EMSAC Conference in Sacramento on November 7. They will have brochures on ENPC available to participants. Deena Brecher, on the ENPC Revision Work Team, gave an update on Version 4 issues. The failure rate was analyzed and it is similar to the TNCC rollout and only 1% higher than the last ENPC rollout. It takes 6-9 months to collect data needed to determine revisions to a written test. Concerns about ENPC can be sent to: deena.brecher@ena.org or to the ENA Education Committee. If you are interested in improving ENPC, there is a call for members for the national Peds Committee and in 2015 there will be a call for ENPC work team members.

If you had no delegate commitment and signed up early enough, you could have taken the basic and advanced suturing labs on Wednesday. I heard they were excellent. There was also a cadaver lab that got rave reviews from those lucky enough to be there on Thursday. During the opening session on Thursday, there was a live streamed clinical simulation lab on the big screen in the assembly hall. Everyone got a front row seat as a patient was intubated with the latest equipment and a chest tube was placed with great detail. The “patient” was a real cadaver whom we paid our respects to in the opening general session, we got an inspirational talk from Master Chef Jeff Henderson, who told us of his early life in the gangs of LA, his drug dealing and his 10 years in prison. He learned to cook there and his innate salesmanship helped him to rise to the position of a celebrity chef in Las Vegas. Then he shared how he found his potential and then taught others to do the same.

Then the courses began and my first was on Lateral Violence in the ED. This was a class that showed how staff can make life harder for each other. What we can do to resolve these conflicts includes zero tolerance for bad behavior, modeling good behavior and not discriminating, at all. After that, the exhibit hall opened and we all flocked in to Ryman Hall to see the latest devices, ideas and mingle with RNs and vendors from all over the country. There was a lot to see, including a device that measures the effectiveness of CPR and prints out graphs on your stats. Another company has a screen you put over your iPhone and use their MedSnap app to identify pills placed on the screen. (Requires a monthly fee.)

There was time that afternoon for a good class called Real, Strange Cases from the ED. This had 3 of our best speakers, who have vast clinical experience. Still, my main takeaways were the new foam mace that drips into eyes, and the simple but deadly weapon they took from a psych patient—“Rock in a Sock”. On a more serious note, they said some of the safest inner-city hospitals have at least one armed security officer on duty at all times.

And then, it was Thursday night and time for the Welcome to Nashville party. This was held outdoors in one of the bigger garden/shopping areas. There were multiple tables with Southern cooking samplers: deep fried catfish, hush puppies, grits, sweet potato fries and some raw carrots. There were also several hosted bars. And there was a great live band – the dance floor was packed with line-dancers and other revelers.

Friday started early at 6am with the Wellness Walk. Only about 40 RNs showed up for the relaxing walk around the hotel parking lots. There was nothing fancy, no numbers, no cheering section and no water or snacks. Not the same as the old Fun Run, but it was good exercise and I got to talk with the nurse in charge of the whole conference. Then we went into a general session with Dr. David Marcozzi from the National Healthcare Preparedness Programs in Washington, DC. For a beaurocrat, he was pretty impressive in describing how his agency is trying to coordinate all of the disaster programs in the country. Just a little too much alphabet soup for my taste.

After that I went to a class on using the ENA Workplace Violence Toolkit to address areas of risk in the ED. The kit is available without cost from ENA. There was an excellent Ultrasound Lab, giving practice using U/S to guide peripheral IV starts. It was booked, but several companies showed their devices in the Exhibit Hall. Veinsite used a headset to view the veins on a screen in front of your eyes, then you had to look down at the actual skin to make the venipuncture. Other devices were mounted on stands and projected a bright light on the surface of

After that there was time to visit the exhibit hall again. Many vendors were holding drawings for iPads this year – I did not win. Exhibits included everything from gurneys and monitors, computer programs, uniforms, to the ENAF jewelry auction, restraints and a portable cage system for wild patients. I also found the inventive DisImpactor, a 10” device with a lumen for irrigation and silicone hooks to pull out the blockage.

I went to an interesting talk on Healthcare Volunteer-ism, where a panel of 3 RNs who have been on medical missions described their experiences and discussed the controversies and risks involved. Click here for one viewpoint.

I went to a very practical talk, Dizziness in the ED. The speaker was an ENT/ED MD who described the difference between disequilibrium (“I feel like I’m going to fall out”) and vertigo (“The room is spinning”). It is also important to distinguish between Peripheral vertigo (positional, intermittent) and central vertigo (CVA, only 3%) He described the Dix-Hallpike test and the modified Epley exam (checking for nystagmus while turning the head). He also showed research that proved MRI is 83% sensitive for finding acute strokes, while CT is only 26% sensitive.

The last two educational sessions I attended were especially good. One was Recognition of Brain Attacks. The speaker, Mary Teeter, a nurse practitioner talked about 3 types of stroke: Ischemic, Hemorrhagic and TIA. It is important to admit TIA patients, as they truly have high risk factors for a full stroke. Take a look at the TIA Risk Assessment Tool. Also check out an excellent book, by an MD who had a CVA: My Stroke of Insight. Ms Teeter recommends annual competency testing for TPA mixing and giving out “Stroke pins” to staff who take part on stroke teams. The final course I took was Pediatric Head Injury by a CPEN certified RN, Elizabeth Griffin. She rec-

Even without these tools, it is known that frontal hematomas in children present the highest risk for skull fracture. So, triage children with head injuries using the ARMS method: appearance, region, mechanism and symptoms.

The closing lecture was given by Lee Woodruff, whose husband, Bob, was hit with a land mine in Iraq while on assignment in 2008. She spoke in a very moving fashion about the compassion and strength she gained while observing and working with the caregivers who helped bring her husband back over a long and arduous process. She reflected on how life can change in an instant and how the honesty and empathy of caregivers can help both patients and family through the process with each and every encounter. Sometimes we in the ED feel we aren’t with the patient long enough to make an impression, but she assured us that every contact is important and can be life-changing.

Saturday evening was the Gala, a black-tie event where Achievement and Lantern Awards were given. Several RNs were inducted into the Academy of Emergency Nursing, including our very own Louise Hummel, MSN, RN, CNS, CEN, AEN! Standing next to her is Matt Powers, newly elected ENA national President-elect.
